

Dollars for Doers

Give employees a way to maximize giving impact with more accessible volunteerism.

The ways that employees want to engage with, participate in, and give to philanthropic efforts have been shifting from traditional donations toward more action-based activities. Even small actions can add up to make a difference both to employees and those they serve. And employees want more control when it comes to what where, and to whom they give, with many opting for innovative Dollars for Doers programs, participating in green action tracking, and performing acts of kindness.

When it comes to Dollars for Doers efforts, CyberGrants programs are built with best practices in mind, and flexibility where you need it most.

We help you maintain full transparency in sharing data with employees on eligible activities and the eligible progress they're making towards supporting grants. Boost participation by building proactive communications and reminders into your programs. Leverage superior flexibility when it comes to choosing qualifying actions, setting application submission periods, and selecting organizations, so you can personalize your programs while taking advantage of best-in-class industry standards.
